The most direct route is via the A26 and A1, but if you plan to make some stops, or take in some scenery and sights, you should look at the A16 and D934. Avoid splicing if possible Randomly selecting Z-piles to splice could result in attempting to splice two cross sections together that do not match.

Main Driving

Power supply You need an external power supply for most drives and motors. So drive can detect when new step command is given.
