1.0 Introduction

The materials range in date from 1916 to 2019. Researchers may be required to find and use legacy software packages to read files.

Extension: Unchanging, but Changing

Paraprofessionals Paraprofessionals are assigned to work in a specific program EFNEP, 4-H, Small Farm, FDM, etc.

Cooperatives

Further, these services improve the lives of consumers and families through nutrition education, food safety training, and youth leadership development. Community needs drive our work. Pay Transparency Act As a federal contractor we have the requirement to comply with pay transparency rules.

Cooperative Extension System

Cooperative Extension work is education for action--action by individuals--action by groups.

Co

Both USDA and ECOP have an interest in following through on many of the recommendations. These documents, prepared annually, indicate specific agreements by the county and by the University.

Through their research and creative activities, faculty at the university interact with colleagues around the world and are part of the network of knowledge and information that so influences our society. The researcher assumes all risk when opening files.

Cooperatives

Instigating these conversations with the emergency managers, the Sheriffs, and the Fire Chiefs in these communities was the first step of what appears to be a plan for long-term collaboration. All of our traditional, or legacy, Extension programs have been urbanized to better adapt to the needs of Denver residents. Its Extension arm firmly supported by a cooperative state and federal funding procedure and a relationship that, over time, has changed and adapted but remains intact.

Cooperatives

There was quite a delay in the printing of the 1968 report and by the time the recommendations were available for discussion, considerable change in personnel in ECOP and USDA had taken place. An unanswerable question is whether the reports led to the changes or simply were a recognition of the existence of exogenous factors and trends that had to be accommodated. This practice is rarely performed on a pre-interview basis.
