Preparing for an Earthquake

Of the areas we serve, Riverside County homeowners have the highest risk of experiencing a significant seismic event, followed by Orange County, and then San Diego County, but residents in any of these areas could experience an earthquake strong enough to cause property damage. Look on the back cover for more information.

Earthquake Preparedness: How to Prepare for the 'Big One'

Ideally, an emergency kit should include enough essentials that could last at least 72 hours. Wrap your water heater and attach it to wall studs.

Tips To Make Your Home Earthquake Ready

Additionally, arrange your room so that your bed is not under a window or next to glass closet doors. Prevent fire hazards Securing your propane tank, cook stove, furnace and other gas and electric appliances will help prevent problems before they happen. Staying calm is the first step in earthquake safety precautions.
