20th century road schemes in Bristol

Broadly speaking, the motorway section of Ringway 4 was to be built and connected to the northern and eastern section of Ringway 3 from the current M25 junction 23 with the clockwise to the current junction 3 with the M20. The two ring roads were to be complemented by 8 radial roads, some of which would follow new routes while others would be made by widening existing roads. Current Status The Cork National Roads Office has requested tender submissions from suitability experienced Technical Consultancy Services TCS.

More details of Â£20m ring road scheme revealed

The M32 is an overwhelming barrier to mobility and accessibility for residents of and Easton, with the main links between the areas consisting of grade-separated dual carriageway intersections and narrow footbridges crossing the motorway at a dizzying height. It was one of the few major road schemes approved by the GLC after Labour took control in 1981.

Aerodist Years
