Research involving adults lacking capacity to consent: a content analysis of participant information sheets for consultees and legal representatives in England and Wales

It is an easy-to-navigate tool that can be used by anyone in the NHS from board to ward. St Mary's: The History of a London Teaching Hospital Liverpool, 2003.

A Study to Evaluate the Efficacy and Safety of Faricimab (RO6867461) in Participants With Diabetic Macular Edema

The data showed a reduction in delayed transfers to 1. A range of seniority was represented among these roles. The mean number of nursing vacancies on wards was 1.

Rural and urban areas: comparing lives using rural/urban classifications

Patologie Renitiche Roma, Lazio, Italy, 00133 ASST FATEBENEFRAELLI SACCO; Oculistica Sacco Milano, Lombardia, Italy, 20157 Azienda Ospedaliero-Universitaria Careggi; S. Conclusions Our findings indicate that there are no clear multimorbidity combinations for a cluster-targeted intervention approach to reduce secondary care costs.

United Kingdom

Implications for policy and practice Our results indicate no clear target combination s of diseases for intervention in terms of impacts on secondary care costs. Guidance on how the HIW inspect the NHS can be viewed.

How healthcare differs across the UK

It is worth noting that some aspects of working life not shown here, such as patterns of part-time working, display only very small differences across area types. Our approach combines efficiency and quality with a belief in fairness and partnership. Examining the costs for combinations of multimorbidity across other settings would also be valuable and possible with other data sources.

A Study to Evaluate the Efficacy and Safety of Faricimab (RO6867461) in Participants With Diabetic Macular Edema

England shows similar differences by area type; however, the two Town and Fringe area types have lower relative poverty. This may assist in developing a minimum standard of information provision or evidence-based content which, if evaluated, would allow optimised written information to be provided by researchers. The majority of combinations are dyads with 2 triads at ranks 4 and 9.
