ABPMR

The ABPMR is here to give you a roadmap to certification and beyond. The ABU tracks inquiries from the public on its web site and through emails and calls. This information is used by ABS to identify and determine an applicant's or diplomate's appropriate status with the ABS.

FAQs

These include ABPM-approved courses as well as patient safety courses.

FAQs

Since its founding in 1933, ABMS has evolved these standards for board certification to support advancements in medicine, science, and technology, and changes in health care delivery processes. It is the applicant or diplomate's responsibility to de-identify the patient's health information before it is submitted to ABS.

American Board of Urology Inc

Although the ABP undertakes reasonable efforts to keep the information contained in the directory accurate, the information is not guaranteed and no responsibility is assumed for errors or omissions. Consequently, it is widely believed that board certified urologists stay current with evolving knowledge, meet acceptable standards in their practice, and are recognized and respected by patients and peers. Some have applied for ABMS membership and some have not.

Diplomate

The ongoing assessment process fosters a community of learners, helping physicians renew their knowledge, identify areas for learning, and connect with resources to retool their skills. ABS currently engages service providers as data processors on our behalf, and they are subject to appropriate confidentiality and security measures, including compliance with this Privacy Policy. I am certified by the American Board of Urology, a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons, and I am an active member of the American Medical Association, American Urological Association, National Board of Examiners, Medical Society of the State of New York, and Erie County Medical Society.

The American Board of Medical Specialties ABMS , a nationally recognized not-for-profit organization, serves the public and the medical profession by improving the quality of health care through setting professional standards for medical specialty practice and certification in partnership with its 24 certifying Member Boards. However, no server, computer or communications network or system, or data transmission over the Internet, can be guaranteed to be 100% secure. The ABPM MOC program continues to evolve to meet American Board of Medical Specialties ABMS requirements.

American Board of Neurological Surgery

The focus on continuous professional development and participation in national initiatives translates into innovations in health care that improve the health of communities across the nation, and enhancements of the quality of care each patient receives. State medical licensure only sets minimum competency requirements and is not specialty specific.
