Breaking gridlock in health policy?; Comment on “A new synthesis”

Jonathan Schleifer is executive director of the Fairness Project, a union-backed organization that helped organize the Medicaid ballot initiatives in Idaho, Nebraska and Utah. The COVID-19 pandemic has been a stark reminder of how everyone is vulnerable to health challenges and the importance of health insurance for financial and health security. In Louisiana, however, voters easily approved an amendment to the state constitution to say that nothing in the document protects the right to, or requires the funding of, abortion.

Five healthcare issues to follow in 2020

Graph 2 For all but the last bar, both parties engaged in filibusters to restrain senate legislation.

How to end the health care reform gridlock

Senate Archives: As much as this huge increase in filibusters stands out, even more striking has been their success or failure. If this is the political choice presented to us, I strongly prefer the first option.

More states expand Medicaid, but experts expect gridlock to protect Obamacare

Under the ACA, individuals and families are constrained by law and regulation in their choices of the kinds of health plans, benefits, benefit designs, or coverage levels. Complete your profile to continue reading and get FREE access to BenefitsPRO.

The Need to Treat the Ailing U.S. Pharmaceutical Pricing System

Will they aggressively market it and advise employees to join? Such 75-year extended forecasts are both necessary and inherently tragicomic. Having no limits was one way to restrain a bare majority from ignoring a large minority. Please see our for details.

gridlock

There are several likely actions the states will take in response. In the 24 years from President Nixon through Bush39, 427 motions 18 per year were filed. Paul LePage refused to implement the expansion.

Balancing the Budget

We will never be done with health reform. The new Community Living Assistance Services and Supports program underscores the dangers of political gridlock.
