Robert Cawdray (A Treasure or Store

Their way is hidden from men; but yet they have not lost their way. Blessed indeed would those men be of whom this could be asserted without reserve and without explanation: we shall have reached the region of pure blessedness when we altogether cease from sin.

Psalm 14 Bible Commentary

This learning is the old and true learning indeed, and he is best learned in this art, who turneth God's word into good works. It is the handmaid of all early word records. Those who keep the Lord's testimonies are sure to seek after himself.

Psalm 36 Bible Commentary

The seven churches of Asia; the Jews. No cure for sin in the life is equal to the word in the seat of life, which is the heart. The preacher has here a wealth of poetic imagery never surpassed.

Then shall I not be ashamed. There is an interesting reference to Demophilus in The Phoenix, described as a collection of old and rare fragments, published by William Gowans, New York, 1835: Demophilus appears to have enjoyed the dignity of archon at Athens, where it was no unusual thing for the character of magistrate and philosopher to be united in the same person. No one likes to be ashamed or to blush: therefore all things which bring shame after them must be avoided: Ezra 9:6 Jeremiah 3:25 Daniel 9:7, Daniel 9:9.

Examples of Similes

It is possible for learners and singers to be carnal and sensual; but in this case they are employed about the righteous ends, works, and ways of the Lord. They also do no iniquity.

Preface. Frank J. Wilstach, comp. 1916. A Dictionary of Similes

It is a practicable aspiration. David, describing a wicked man, saith, He setteth himself in a way that is not good; that is, in an evil way: he doth not only fall into sin that may be the case of a good man, but he takes or chooseth an evil way, and then sets or settles himself in it, resolving not to leave it, no, nor to be beaten out of it.

Collection of Quotes Quotes

Some give to God a careless service, a sort of hit or miss obedience, but the Lord has not commanded such service, nor will he accept it. Whether they owe their preservation to the latter philosopher having, from his conviction of their excellence, appended them to his own writings, is, though not unlikely, impossible to determine.
