It concludes by arguing for the introduction of strategies which go beyond practical, structural and 'problem solving' equal opportunity mode.

Forging the Ideal Educated Girl by Shenila Khoja

I highly recommend the book to scholars of gender studies, political theory, and South Asian politics. Special thanks go to the colleagues, who covered my work during this study leave. The theoretical perspective adopted, is shaped principally by ideas within poststructuralism viewed through the lens of feminism.

Educating Muslim Girls: Shifting Discourses (Feminist Educational Thinking), Haw 9780335197736

The book begins by developing a theoretical framework which reflects current debates within feminism and post-structuralism, with the aim of enabling readers coming to these debates for the first time to develop a basic understanding. Spanning the intersection between Islamic, South Asian, and gender studies, the book will appeal to a wide range of audiences.
