Mobile-enabled officers save about 45 minutes each per shift, allowing more time for police work and less for paperwork. One out of every two 50 percent of mobile workers complained that finding simple access to Wi-Fi networks outside the office is a hindrance to their productivity, whereas in 2011, only 33 percent of mobile workers described this as a barrier to successful mobile working; indicating that there is a growing reliance on Wi-Fi connectivity among the workforce.
