A Brief History of Chinese Opera

The five consonant types are denoted by the portion of the mouth most critical to each type's production: throat, or larynx hou ; tongue she ; molars, or the jaws and palate chi ; front teeth ya ; and lips chun. However, it is still very much alive.

Actors in Cultural Role

It is an amalgamation of various art forms that existed in ancient China, and evolved gradually over more than a thousand years, reaching its mature form in the 13th century, during the 960—1279. The first Western-type theatre house, built by the Chinese themselves, was the New Shanghai Stage, which was opened in 1908. The xipi style also uses several unique tempos, including erliu 'two-six' , and kuaiban a fast tempo.

Peking opera
