New York City Financial Information Services Agency Company Profile

Human Services advised the ANAO that FIS Officers may use an unrecorded proportion of their day preparing or researching technical information for interviews, phone calls and seminars.

Official Guide to Government Information and Services

Contrary to the claim of being poorly targeted, the service is intentionally broadly offered.

Administration of the Financial Information Service

Financial counselling is free, confidential and independent assistance to people with financial problems. Our people are connected to a heritage of financial excellence from those who served in the past.

FIS (company)

The strategy supports a structured approach to the implementation of training and development opportunities for new and existing FIS Officers. The department advised that the duties of FIS Officers differ from those of Smart Centre Officers. SIX does more than deliver data: Our work on data standardization helps to create a more efficient industry.

Financial Data Service Providers in the US

Since 1991, the Service has been targeted at all Australians, and the department advised that two sub-groups for FIS are the under 55 age group and retirees. Financial data links together the global financial value chain. The service offer documents that FIS seeks to assist all Australians to make informed decisions about financial and investment issues for their current and future financial needs.

Official Guide to Government Information and Services

It does not take into account the under age 55 cohort, which is one of the two FIS sub-groups.
