

Life in the balance - ecological sociology of Turkana nomads

ACTS Press, African Centre for Technology Studies - No. 29, 1991 of Nomadic Peoples on JSTOR

Description: -

- Human ecology -- Kenya.
Turkana (African people) Life in the balance - ecological sociology of Turkana nomads

- no. 2
Drylands research series ; Life in the balance - ecological sociology of Turkana nomads

Notes: Includes bibliographical references (p. [143]-153) and index.
This edition was published in 1990

Filesize: 68.51 MB

Tags: #The #Turkana #people

The Turkana people

A negative attitude towards someone can lead to internalising negative internal contradictions, which will manifest in a negative behaviour 1996:70. Development experts who observe the meager natural resources of Baluchistan, the non-existent infrastructure, and the unpromising quality of the labor pool, conclude that there is no economic justification for investment. Immature leadership The final category that causes a power struggle was the immaturity of leaders whether in character, spirituality or emotionally, etc.

Understanding power struggles in the Pentecostal church government

The problem of insecurity and lawlessness has evolved over a long period of time. I have many combat vet friends that have failed to ask for the proper help and now their families have been affected and continue to cope and deal with the stresses and behaviors which at times can be very intense. Traditionally, cattle rustling among the pastoral communities was considered as a cultural practice and was sanctioned and controlled by the elders.

Holdings: Taṭwīr ‘imārat al

The bandits were said to have been heavily armed with sophisticated weapons such as rocket-propelled grenades and launchers, landmines, machine guns, and an assortment of other weapons. State officials, especially security forces, are also reportedly perpetrating acts of violence and insecurity in the region.

No. 29, 1991 of Nomadic Peoples on JSTOR

Introduction There has emerged a new system of predatory exploitation of economic resources in the form of banditry and cattle rustling raids in Kenya.

The Sociology of Insecurity

During the 1970s the Turkana in collaboration with elements in the government employed sophisticated raiding methods using heavy guns, military trucks for transport and large scale networks of smuggling extending up to Sudan Markakis 1993:89.

Holdings: Taṭwīr ‘imārat al

The cattle raiding expedition was led by one of the Pokot warlords, who allegedly shot down the helicopter using a bazooka Daily Nation 28-31 Dec 1996; The East African Standard 28-31 Dec 1996.

Holdings: Taṭwīr ‘imārat al

These young men underwent some vigorous military training under the supervision of ex-military men Morogo interview 1998. This knowledge will go a long way to minimise power struggles in matters of church government. The findings of the research based on the five themes will show how structural conflict emerges as the major reason for power struggles.

Related Books

- Їззык, литература i кул'тура v regional'nom prostranstve - materialy Vserossiiskoi nauchno-prakt
- Umhlaba, rural land struggles in the Transvaal in the 80s
- Evoliutsiia politiki SShA v otnoshenii SNG
- An introduction to Russian history and culture.
- Art metal and enameling