Karekin Hovsepian's discovery of the doctrinal christological homilies of the 8th century Armenian Church Father Khosrovik Tarkmanitch and several other scholarly articles and books on the history of Armenian art and manuscript miniatures and colophons, constitute, indeed, a most valuable service to the advance of Armenological studies. In the most primitive cultures, there is often little formal learning—little of what one would ordinarily call school or classes or teachers. The position promoted by the League of the South at the turn of the twenty-first century that the South is a Christian nation under threat is not new.

ECUMENICAL TRENDS IN THE ARMENIAN CHURCH

The moral aspect of education was not neglected. In addition, the idea of aretē was becoming central to Greek life.

Miscellaneous observations on important theological subjects, original and collected. By the late Reverend Mr Jonathan Edwards, President of the College of New Jersey. (eBook, 1793) [vip.stumagz.com]

It was only in the 1st century bce that the teaching of rhetoric in Latin was established: the first recorded Latin rhetorician, Plotius Gallus, appeared in 93 bce in a political context—namely, as a democratic initiative to counter the aristocratic education given in Greek—and as such was soon prohibited by the conservative party in power. Thus, Alcuin, who had been the master of the school at York, and other English scholars were brought over to transplant to the Continent the studies and disciplines of the Anglo-Saxon schools. This culture, already Christianized in the 4th and 5th centuries, was maintained and transmitted by an educational system that was inherited from the Greco-Roman past and based on the study and imitation of Classical Greek literature.

Hardly they touch upon the religious, theological, ethical aspects of their literary legacy. Suppe 1977, 710 So conceived, a theory can be adequately represented by more than one linguistic formulation because it is not a system of sentences or propositions.

What is Primary Research? // Purdue Writing Lab

An experiment is a useful method of measuring causality; that is cause and effect between dependent and independent variables in a research environment. By including the data in the NHSN MRP, the facility is stating that the NHSN surveillance protocols will be used, in its entirety, for that particular event.
