[Stoke on Trent City Council] - VOLUME 1: INSTITUTIONALISATION

Key Recommendations	Rationale	Progress
Strengthen Supervision and Regulation of the Nonbank Sector Enhance NBS oversight	The NBS's capacity to supervise NBSs remains weak.	Ongoing. The NBSI collects financial reports from most NBSs. Spot checks are conducted, and regular meetings held with the NBSI to improve compliance.
Introduce a correspondent bank monitoring tool to capture the interconnections between domestic and foreign financial intermediaries.	Correspondent banks have stepped up scrutiny of correspondent bank transactions with the nonbank sector. The tool banks to close NBS bank accounts in order and monitor countries. Given the importance of nonbanks for the economy, a risk monitoring tool would be helpful.	No progress to report. Transactions are monitored in real time with an automated NBSI CTR reporting system. Options are still being explored for a regional solution.
Enforce legislation to regulate and supervise NBS activities	To strengthen NBS's supervisory capacity and set the high bars for financial stability and macroprudential policy.	The Microfinance Institutions Act was approved in 2018 and took effect from June 2019 to restrict excessively high interest rate loans. The Microfinance Act became effective September 30, 2020 to regulate the licensing and supervision of insurance companies, pension funds and capital markets are being drafted.
Strengthen Financial Stability Governance Develop a definition of financial stability for NBS Act	The NBS Act was amended in 2014 to include the financial stability as one of the principal objectives of the NBSI. However, financial stability is not defined. A definition could help inform the powers and functions related to the NBSI's financial stability mandate.	The definition is to be included in amendments to the NBSI Act.
Design macroprudential authority to NBSI.	While the NBSI Act contains a broad mandate for financial stability, responsibilities and powers for macroprudential policy formulation and implementation are not clearly assigned.	To be included as part of the amendments to the NBSI Act.
Develop systemic risk indicators to enhance systemic risk monitoring	The NBSI does not have a systematic approach for evaluating macroprudential risks to financial stability.	No progress to report. Technical assistance would be required.

The Commission received three comments directly addressing the IRFA. This is the clearest indication that it was the intention of the legislature not merely to give effect to the second sentence of article 3 but to the whole of the provision including the grant of legal personality. Obviously, good advice is related to good research.

In a footnote, the commenter contended that New Hampshire had similarly not included a submittal to satisfy the same provision for the 2008 ozone or 2010 NO<sub>2</sub> NAAQS. The money that they can call on to mount a campaign against such developments should perhaps sometimes be balanced against the commercial interests involved in developing something that would not otherwise be developed if there was no commercial benefit to it.
