Autour de Balzac: on JSTOR

His merits were those of the Scapins of ancient comedy; he had their fertility of resource, their cleverness in skirting evil, their itching to lay hold of all that was good to keep.

Rise and Fall of Cesar Birotteau, by Honore de Balzac

The work he had undertaken in his manufactories had given him a few premature wrinkles, and had slightly silvered the thick tufts of hair on which the pressure of his hat left a shining circle.

De jour en jour, ce vieux ménage-là me serre le cœur davantage. Molineux le dit : tout est facile, « dans la parfumerie tout va comme un gant » 135. I am not angry with you; in your place—the devil! Forced at last to give up his mistress, the notary drank the dregs of his philter from a broken chalice.

Maurice-Amour, in Balzac, Le livre du centenaire, Flammarion, 1952, p. These heavy losses had driven the good man into a kind of Christian stoicism,—a noble doctrine, which gave life to his existence, and colored his latter days with the warm, and at the same time chilling, tones which gild the sunsets of winter.

Parfümcü Cesar Birotteau'nun Yükselişi ve Düşüşü/Honore de Balzac Fiyatları ve Özellikleri

If I had listened to you I should never have invented the Paste of Sultans nor the Carminative Balm. This cosmetic will not be less successful than my Paste or my Lotion.

When the evening was over, and just as Ferdinand was going to bed, Birotteau took him into the shop on a pretext of business. It is offered as a foreign importation; and we have the ill-luck to belong to our own country. He was appointed major in the National Guard, although he was utterly incapable of giving the word of command.
