EU leaders pay tribute to Thatcher's 'extraordinary legacy'

In June 1990, the European Court of Justice ECJ ordered the British courts to suspend the Merchants Shipping Act, 1998.

Conservative Party

Some of her critics in the party dubbed her policies Manchester School Liberalism.

The strange rebirth of Tory England

In opposition she criticised the Labour government of James Callaghan for refusing to sign up to the Exchange Rate Mechanism, the forerunner for the euro, and she also argued in favour of a common European approach to defence. You give up your sovereignty. The PCA provides a political, economic and cultural framework for relations between Russia and the EU.

Russia

This was not because the party seriously dismantled the main programmes of the welfare state, indeed the progress of its reforms was disappointing to many in the Government, and still more to its admirers outside.
