Contemporary Spanish cinema : Jordan, Barry, 1950

When critics use the word, they often imply the political orientation of the work - its portrayal of the neglected corners of society - or, in regard to form, the extent to which it rejects the conventions of the popular melodrama. Horror films are designed to frighten and to invoke our hidden worst fears, often in a terrifying, shocking finale, while captivating and entertaining us at the same time in a cathartic experience. Stop Motion is defined by taking real objects and adjusting them frame by frame to simulate motion and emotion.
