Security and Defence and enlargement of the European Union (2)

While the role of the EU is crucial, there is no reason to insist on a choice between EU enlargement and NATO enlargement. For his part, George W. Therefore, in reality what we are looking at are forms of practical cooperation.

Security and Defence and enlargement of the European Union (2)

The military establishments and defence industries became principal actors in the integration process, which helped them to acquire new economic resources and political legitimization. The was opposed to NATO membership until September 2015, when party leadership under announced that they would motion to change the party policy in order to push for Sweden to join NATO at their next party conference.

NATO

One way we can continue to erase the outdated and illegitimate Cold War dividing line is to bring states from Central Europe into the Alliance, as they prove their readiness to assume the burdens of NATO membership and to contribute to the security of the transatlantic area. It is widely understood that a would have to be held before any changes could be made to neutrality or to joining NATO. Should these states then be involved in an Article V crisis, Turkey would be called upon to defend countries viewed as its equal in security matters, but with which Turkey would not enjoy equal status as a trading and political partner due to Ankara's exclusion from the European Union.

NATO Enlargement: Balancing Economic and Military Objectives.

The Dutch believe that Romania has settled important territorial and minority issues with Hungary. EU leaders have already agreed to a schedule of monthly consultations between the Political and Security Committee and Russia. If the NATO-EU coalition is able to keep coordinated pressure on all parties, Operation Amber Fox could act as a successful bridge to a political process of inter-ethnic reform in FYROM.

NATO's Further Enlargement: Determinants and Implications for Defense Planning and Shaping

This is one reason we support the enlargement of the European Union EU to include Central European states. These countries' contributions to our security are nothing new. High-end European military capabilities are not going to improve very quickly despite the genuine political change wrought by the ESDP.
