Constitution Act 1982 Document

One of the promises in the 1997 Labour manifesto was the removal of the right of the 758 hereditary peers to sit in the House of Lords, but some negotiations were necessary to get the bill through the Lords, for the Conservative Party opposed reform, the House of Lords being one of their only effective forums of opposition.

Constitution of Canada

The government of initiated the by asking its a question on under section 11. It took a formal constitutional amendment, for example, to alter one of the provisions in 1930, and that was the one affecting the three prairie provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, under which we finally got control over our natural resources, something the other provinces already enjoyed. In India, it seems, the very identity and existence of the states is subject to the authority of the Union; while in the United States both the Union and the States are deemed indestructible; while in Ethiopia, the territorial bounds of the Union itself can be altered by unilateral withdrawal of a state.

Indian Act

According to subsection 52 2 of the , the Canadian Constitution consists of the which includes the Constitution Act, 1982 , acts and orders referred to in its schedule including in particular the , formerly the British North America Act, 1867 , and any amendments to these documents. The 1997 federal Budget further reflected 2 key findings of the task force: tax reform to better reflect the cost of a disability, as well as measures to reduce barriers to employment for people with disabilities.

Canada, House of Commons Debates, "Resolution Respecting Constitution Act", 32nd Parl, 1st Sess (27 November 1981)

Indeed, in the first 50 years of proportional representation in the Senate, the government has had a majority for only twelve years, and it seems unlikely that in the foreseeable future any government will have a Senate majority. Subject to the provisions of paragraph 3, where an enterprise of a Contracting State carries on business in the other Contracting State through a permanent establishment situated therein, there shall in each Contracting State be attributed to that permanent establishment the profits which it might be expected to make if it were a distinct and separate enterprise engaged in the same or similar activities under the same or similar conditions and dealing wholly independently with the enterprise of which it is a permanent establishment.

Debates (Hansard)

He was here for part of the debate but he has now left.
