In a Lonely Place

Grahame co-stars as Laurel Gray, a lonely, foolish neighbor who falls under his spell. The original ending had Steele strangling Gray to death in the heat of their argument.

The ranked it number 89 in their list of the 100 greatest American films of all time. After briefly calming down, Steele answers the phone, learning of Gray's flight cancellation. At a nightclub, Steele spots Ted Barton, another detective, arrive with a female companion and grows irritated, believing that Barton is tailing him.

Hughes' novel was out of print for decades, until re-released by The Feminist Press at CUNY in 2003, which edition was still in print in 2010. Back at the apartment, Steele flies into a rage. Director Nicholas Ray maintains nice suspense.

The Lonely Island

Meeting with Lippman at a nightclub, Steele is cajoled into adapting a book for a movie. The review aggregator reported that 98% of critics gave the film positive reviews, with an average rating of 8.

The Lonely Island

Steele goes to the police station and attempts to clear his name, meeting Atkinson's boyfriend Harry Kesler, who works at a bank.

Lonely

Add your name to this petition asking for justice. He favors the underdog; in one instance he virtually has a veteran, brandy-soaking character actor out of work on his very limited payroll.

The Lonely Island

Only 2 police forces out of 18,000 in the United States have adopted all eight of these policies. Humphrey Bogart is in top form in his latest independently made production, In a Lonely Place, and the picture itself is a superior cut of Lippmanodrama.
