POLITICAL PARTICIPATION

Election data since 1998 show that the success rates of men and women candidates do not differ in a major way and in many cases women candidates are more successful than their male counter- parts. Government have also involved in implementing lot of schemes Pradhan Mantri Mahila Shakti Kendra, which will empower rural women through community participation to create an environment in which they realize their full potential. The urban, rich, graduate and the upper caste women support the BJP in a more pronounced way.
