Read of the 1st Virginia Artillery describing earlier stages of the Gettysburg campaign.

Volume III Chapter XXXIII

He wonders when fighting between the armies might commence. If at first there are not enough Bison to make use of all the range, cattle or horses may be ranged at a rental, which will assist in keeping the range in condition.

Volume III Chapter XXXIII

The general contour of the country is as follows : East of the river there is a valley several miles wide, and quite level ; eastward of this valley is a range of low hills and buttes, extending north and south; east of these is a high and level bench, gradually dropping lower to form the Mission valley; on the eastern side of that valley the majestic Mission Mountains rise abruptly from the plain, the peaks having an elevation of from 7,000 to 10,000 feet above the sea, and 4,000 to ypo0 feet above the valley. He reports that they have not caught any prizes lately and that steamers go by them undiscovered.
