Its presence heightens the growing music scene within the Jewellery Quarter and Hockley areas. Maker led and maker designed with creativity at its core. In 1948, it was reported that the larger factories on the northern fringe of the Quarter were experiencing a decline in manufacturing whilst those in the centre were witnessing the opposite.

Sustainable and Ethical Making in the UK Jewellery and Silversmithing Industry

The project brief was to create a retreat for the charity Sistema, who tackle social inequality using musical education.

Apprenticeship standards / Institute for Apprenticeships and Technical Education

A considerable trade developed in the manufacture of gilt buttons, cap badges, pins and small metal toys. The flowing, rippled appearance of the wood connects to sound waves created by children inside to the lapping waves of the river made by Mother Nature outside.

Lack of materials is having the greatest impact on jewellery designers during Covid

The inhabitants around the market sell fish, fruits and vegetables as well as products of marine culture mussels, oysters and algae in the market open to visitors.
