Philip Marchand: A tale of two Marys

Tamara I wish I had to be honest! By September 2012, the iron was too hot to not strike. Florence Henderson The Brady Bunch played Meg March, and Margaret O'Brien reprised her role of Beth from the 1949 feature film. The last is especially notable for its satirical portrayal of Harvard anthropologist , whose Yankee City study attempted and in Marquand's view, dismally failed to describe and analyze the manners and mores of Newburyport.
