C.I. Fluorescent Brightener 113

This woman does not appear to be Nina Gypsy, the mistress whom Lecoq manipulated in Le Dossier No. That whole section was speculation on my part to explain the three conflicting origin stories about Lecoq.

The Blackmailers: Dossier No. 113 by Émile Gaboriau, Ernest Tristan

It may also have been influenced by the villainous Monsieur Lecoq, one of the main protagonists of Féval's book series. Caleb Sweetwater begins as a young man hoping to get his first job as a detective.

The Blackmailers: Dossier No. 113 (Detective Club Crime Classics) by Emile Gaboriau

Monsieur de Breulh nearly starves to death at a cattle ranch in Sonora, Mexico. This is oddly similar to Chekhov's technique, in which small descriptive details somehow suggest a whole personality of a character.

The Monsiuer Lecoq Chronology

Towards the end of the 1890's Green started creating some new detectives. In his debut work Sweetwater proves more brilliant than the experienced detective brought in from Boston to solve the case.

Emile Gaboriau and his School

THERE MIGHT BE DELAY THAN THE ESTIMATED DELIVERY DATE DUE TO COVID-19.

Lecoq was a major influence on Sherlock Holmes, Arsene Lupin and other fictional mystery characters.
