Jozo Shikensho Hokoku Report of the Brewing Experiment Station No. A recent neuroimaging study on psilocybin revealed a pattern of decreased cerebral blood flow and functional disconnections that is surprisingly similar to that caused by various anesthetics. We evaluated our method in simulation studies adopting 50 pathways for different sample sizes and genetic effect strengths.

Reunited

Our findings provide evidence for shared genetic influences between CCT and keratoconus, and implicate candidate genes acting in collagen and extracellular matrix regulation.
