Utah Division of Public Utilities

The Task Force met several times and followed the progress of an informal working group composed of all interested parties.

FERC: Public Utilities Selling at Market

For example, it created a new class of producers called Exempt Wholesale Generators, which could generate power any way they saw fit and without regard to energy efficiency concerns as was the case for PURPA QFs. At least 50 percent of this exemption is to be used for agricultural pumping. Local distribution lines will continue to be operated by the existing electric utilities.

Questioning the Rationale of Natural Monopoly for Regulation These realities of electricity production made many people within and outside the industry question one of the rationales for acceptance of utilities as natural monopolies and, consequently, the justification for regulation. The California Public Utilities Commission created the California Board for Energy Efficiency to implement energy efficiency programs.

Powering A Generation: Understanding Deregulation #1

The Commission acknowledged that it previously has determined that holding a non-voting interest that confers on the holder only limited veto and consent rights necessary to protect the value of the investment is passive and does not result in affiliation.

Utah Division of Public Utilities

Additionally, the increasingly divided industry lost its ability to speak with one voice, even through the Edison Electric Institute, thus weakening its political clout on issues such as how to reduce acid rain. Utilities Could Expand Outside their Franchise Areas Utility companies won some new rights under the Energy Policy Act as well. The PX solicits bids from electricity buyers and generators and chooses the lowest generation bidders until the PX has enough electricity supply to meet requests for power.

New Hampshire Public Utilities Commission

Many companies in the same market would not enjoy the large market of diverse customers, and they would be limited to using smaller and less-efficient equipment.
