5 of the Major Development Projects

Projects and programs must be well designed and offer high social and economic returns. The EU-STREIT PNG is the largest grant-funded Programme of the European Union in the country and the Pacific region, which focuses on supporting smallholder cocoa, vanilla and fish farmers in the ten districts of East and West Sepik provinces. .

The results have been mixed at best.

Agriculture Development in Papua New Guinea

The development of a more prosperous middle class, for example, could benefit the Australian economy — with a new capacity for Papua New Guineans to purchase Australian goods and services, including education services. She focuses upon educational opportunity as the key to wealth and political power and shows that the most educationally disadvantaged group in PNG is rural women. The high rates of family and sexual violence qualify as a national humanitarian emergency.

Papua New Guinea

This takes time and solid technical work.

United Nations in Papua New Guinea

If Australia were to duck that responsibility, it may well be taken up by others. Many PNG and Australian businesspeople and government officials have commented to the author that weak capacity and inadequate skills in the public service are the most critical inhibitors to development in Papua New Guinea. This is done by establishing productive partnerships between small producers and agribusinesses and policies and institutions that aid development of inclusive value chains.

United Nations in Papua New Guinea

Under a Letter of Agreement LoA signed between Managing Director of National Fisheries Authority NFA Mr John Kasu and the FAO Country Head of Office, Mr Ken Shimizu, EU-STREIT PNG offers its support to upscale the knowledge and skills of 14 government fisheries officers through a 10-week training at the National Fisheries College NFC in Kavieng. This would relieve pressure on PNG universities and allow them time to focus on enhancing the quality of their teaching.

Papua New Guinea

Emmanuel Pok expressed worry over the downward trend in female representation in the national Parliament. Most recently, this has included frost brought by , affecting one third of the population.

Papua New Guinea

It is upon us, as women of this country, to push for the change we want.
