The Kill (La Curée) (Les Rougon

Often, the poor are portrayed in statistical rather than in human terms by news bulletins that focus on the numbers unemployed or on benefits, rather than the individual suffering and personal indignities of poverty.

Spatial reading: evaluative frameworks and the making of literary authority

The books follow the lives of descendants of a family set on a background of French history.

Realism and Reality Congruence: Sociology and International Relations

They have different English titles. It deals with property speculation and the lives of the extremely wealthy Nouveau riche of the Second French Empire, against the backdrop of Baron Haussmann's reconstruction of Paris in the 1850's and 1860's. Literary experience, too, involves these two essentially different intensities of judgment.

Positivism and The Novels of Balzac, Paul de Kock, and Zola

Rather, when it did appear, e. Arguably, she is the French equivalent, for her life is just as frantic and dissolute and her fate speaks of an equally broken and disconsolate ending. Zola assembles a cast of characters who are all as unsympathetic and unlikeable as one could imagine and writes a gripping story that keeps the reader interested through the end.
