Social Support and Health

Patient satisfaction with methadone maintenance treatment in vietnam: a comparison of different integrative-service delivery models. The use of specific instruments or the use of both, specific and generic, to evaluate HRQoL in HIV-infected patients has been reported. Each facet consists of two to eight items.

Factors Related to Quality of Life in Treatment

Determinants of health-related quality of life in HIV-infected patients.

Social Support and Health

Management of HIV-related opportunistic infections, access to HIV-related drugs, prophylaxis for opportunistic infection, hospitalisation, nutritional support, interventions to reduce mother-to-child transmission prevention of mother-to-child transmission of HIV and AIDS, or PMTCT , and health education amongst others, are also provided at no cost to the client. Related to this, a single mother on ART with one child said that after the diagnosis, she cut down her expenses on luxury items such as clothes and hair treatments. Thus, this change could not be attributed to the use of EFV alone.
