Loughrea Community Radio

In small towns and villages, newspapers are not available, and only few people can afford a TV set.

Why community radios matter so much to indigenous people in Bolivia

The book mixes recollections, analysis, transcripts of actual broadcasts, and more theoretical pieces, none of them available in English before and some of them published here for the very first time.

Refworld

Community radio stations are an extraordinary thing because even though they exist all over the world, they are uniquely placed in their own community to make a difference to the society that they serve. The testimonies of gratitude for this service were numerous and moving. We will only be able to compete with the commercial broadcasters if our programmes are better than theirs.

One Oruro journalist, who asked not to be identified, told CPJ that he thought the explosion was aimed at the MAS office. It was not only a matter of broadcasting live the great papal celebrations, audiences and events, and of giving adequate information in all languages so that the universal Church felt involved, but also of providing a service for pilgrims arriving in Rome from all over the world. He worked for one of the biggest, Radio Huanuni, even before he left school.
