Statistics Explained

The trend series has therefore been suspended from March 2019 in the time series and will be reinstated when more certainty emerges in the underlying trend in international trade.

China

Looking forward, we estimate Exports in Pakistan to stand at 312000. Data are reproduced as they were published after the necessary conversions for production, shipments, imports, exports, reported and apparent consumption, stocks, and end uses.

U.S. Data and Statistics

Among EEA countries this is not the case.

Brazil Import Export Data

While we recognise that March data will have a lower response than typical, we have quality assured the data against other travel data sources to ensure the estimate reflects the changing picture for travel services.

International Trade in Goods and Services, Australia, December 2020

The total trade balance, excluding precious metals, decreased to a deficit in the three months to May 2020. The total trade balance, excluding non-monetary gold and other precious metals, decreased by £5. Monthly and quarterly trade data is also available at the tariff line level for around 110 countries, and annually for an additional 50. Revisions In accordance with the , goods data in this release have been revised back to April 2020, while services data have been revised back to January 2019.

How to Access U.S. Import and Export Trade Statistics

The notes that accompany each mineral commodity worksheet discuss the source of apparent consumption and unit value data and the assumptions made in estimating these data when they were not available from the references. Among EEA countries private occupational insurance is also significant in Iceland and Switzerland. These differences occur due to the trade partner, different types of processing, quality assurance, editing and validation that each country may perform on its data once it is reported to the government.

Pakistan Exports

The fall in EU exports was caused by machinery and transport equipment and fuels, which fell by £7. When additional information for these commodities is available, the ABS may adjust the data to reflect actual transaction values.
