Hearse Headed to a Funeral

MAINE: There are no state laws governing funeral processions. Through the ages it has varied from people walking and carrying the deceased, to the modern entourage of limousines and automobiles.

Funeral Processions and the Right

Meanwhile, since January, several provinces in Canada have resumed in-person learning at schools. All vehicles in the procession must follow each other as closely as safely possible, and toll-free passage is given to processions on any toll bridges, tunnels, or other roads.
