Harvard Extension Students

The government and teaching bodies maintain that the improved grades represent higher levels of achievement due to improved and more experienced teaching methods, but some educationalists and journalists argue that the change is due to grade inflation and the examinations getting easier. If you are experiencing any hardships regarding Summer Sessions classes due to the current health situation, you can reach out to us via phone at or via email at.

Cambridge AICE Diploma

The modular system has also been criticised for nurturing a 'resit culture', while new linear courses give no opportunity to resit individual units. Admission to A level programmes is at the discretion of providers, and usually depends on GCSE grades. Grading begins in Year 3, and written exams are introduced in Year 5.

Cambridge IGCSE

As there are usually more applicants than places available in certain fields of study, students with the highest average exam results are selected, e For admission to programmes requiring specialised knowledge or skills, special admission examinations are require in one or more certain subjects such as fine arts, architecture, music studies, foreign languages, and others or compulsory preparatory tests such as medical assessment, fitness, sports, psychometric. Normally, students take three or four A Level courses in their first year of, and most taking four cut back to three in their second year. D, E and F grades were also shown for the first time—indicating that a paper had been sat but the student had not achieved a pass mark.

Harvard Extension Students

However the grades were not displayed on certificates. Below that level, a U is awarded, as in GCSEs.

GCE Advanced Level (United Kingdom)

The November examination series exists for this purpose, to allow a faster path to gain these grades than waiting until the following summer's main series. Lessons end in late May so that the students will be able to study for their examinations in June. Finally, for those taking advanced modules in Grade 10, exams will conclude on June 26 and for those taking the same in Grades 11-12, they will come to an end on June 27.
