It contains 81 panegyrics in praise of the Prophet Muhammad and his House, many by poets who are otherwise unknown. The book is thus an important new source for the history of Persian literature in the Islamic Middle Ages as it adds many new names to the list of the Persian poets in the 11th—15th centuries. It is a book that is indispensable for any Iranian studies or studies of any interest in the subject of Iran, its regions and developments.
