Socialism is nothing less than turning over the means of production to either the public domain or to the working class. By the time Margaret Thatcher became prime minister in 1979, both France and Italy were richer in per capita terms... Thatcher unleashed a wave of privatizations, along with other free-market policies. So in responding to these people, you are correct.

There are a plethora of tendencies within Marxism, and I don't think I have enough space to really delve into them that would do any justice. I think waving degrees in people's faces is incredibly middle-class, but I do have an education in that regard. Marxism-Leninism is a revolutionary ideology based on the ideas of Karl Marx, Vladimir Lenin, and often Mao Zedong.
