Performance management methods and practices among nurses in primary health care settings: a systematic scoping review protocol

Roles Nurse leaders and managers take on different roles throughout their careers, depending on their specialties and qualifications. Nurse managers must be able to build a solid rapport with all staff members, from the janitorial staff to head administrators, as well as patients to create cohesiveness. Once completed, this process will be verified by the two other reviewers TS and TPM-T.

Transforming Leadership

Sometimes that development comes through experience. Through direct observation, interviews, and surveys, Tucker and Spear identified a number of major categories of obstacles to nursing care, including physician orders, obtaining equipment and supplies, and staffing. Nursing leadership and management are healthcare fields that require a high level of knowledge and expertise.
