ParentChild+

Staff can also use aggregated information about individual families and children—including their goals, strengths, and challenges—to set program goals and measurable objectives that link child and family outcomes. ORS Impact, a 3rd-party evaluator, completed a formal evaluation conducted via standardized assessment tools; provider, Early Learning Specialists, and parent interviews and surveys; and focus groups of the Family Child Care model. To maintain calibration, Early Learning Specialists and their supervisors engage in continuing professional learning.

Building a HighScope Program: Family Child Care Programs — Early Years

It is important to be able to distinguish between: 1 program-level goals to support PFCE outcomes; and 2 individual family goals that are developed with the family through the family assessment and family partnership process. The PFCE outcomes are defined areas of expected outcomes that all Head Start programs must work toward.

Shop — Early Years

As a home daycare, they provide a safe, nurturing space where kids build critical social skills.

Child Care Provider

Each provider is matched with a community-based Early Learning Specialist who shares their culture and language and visits with them twice a week. A new component of the model, Communities of Practice CoP cultivate an ethos of continuous quality improvement and growth-mindset. ParentChild+ is bringing materials and supports designed specifically for family child care.
