During the Second World War the Hospital was evacuated to Ottershaw, Surrey and the building used as a refugee centre. It is this with this paradox that we must contend. Given that popular taste is often anticipated in the academy, it is noteworthy that in American universities the study of British history is shrinking if not drastically : membership ofthe US association of academic historians in the field has dropped from 1,000 members a decade ago to some 750 today.

The amount of silver removed during cleaning was determined by measurements of dimensional changes of a group of indentations in the silver surface. Only the largest and most varied collections — which they do not have at their disposal — can hope to develop a fully articulated narrative of British art and society. The catalogue features profiles and personal statements of the silversmiths with illustrations of some of the exhibits.
